Reviews

The book is great and fantastic. It is written in straightforward words and phrases rather than difficult to understand. You won't really feel monotony at any time of your respective time (that's what catalogues are for regarding should you question me).

Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from The Family Economist, Vol. 2: A Penny Monthly Magazine, Devoted to the Moral, Physical, and Domestic Improvement of the Industrious Classes, 1849 He who promiseth runs in debt. A punctual man can always find leisure, a negligent one never. One good head is better than several hands. Civility is a kind of charm that attracts the love of all men. Little and often fills the purse. As is the gardener, such is the garden. Success is the child of confidence and perseverance. Sin like a disease is often caught by infection. A man may buy gold too dear. God s mercies are as houndless as his being. Deliberate slowly; execute promptly. He that is hasty fishes in an empty pond. Redeem misspent time by industry. He doubles his gift who gives in time. He who swims in sin will sink in sorrow. He who avoids the temptation avoids the sin. Gold may be bought too dear. A good character is a fortune. Prudence saves what passion wastes. Riches take to themselves wings, and fly away. Much would have more and lost all. Be thrifty that you may have wherewith to be charitable. True economy is something better than stinginess. It is more blessed to give than to receive. He who has no shame, has no conscience. An inquisitive fellow is a spy in disguise. Fortune sometimes favours those whom she afterwards destroys. Love labour; if you need it not for food, you do for physic. Make not your sail too large for your ship. That man is rich whose desires are poor. Do well and doubt no man; do ill and doubt all men. A...
