Excerpt: . . . earthly things, never lifted up their gaze on high, so justice here sunk them to the ground. As avarice put out our love for all things good, so that our good works were left undone, so justice keeps us captive here bound tightly hand and foot; and here shall we remain stretched out and motionless, so long as our most righteous Lord shall choose. I had fallen upon my knees, and would have spoken, but just as I began, he perceived, though by the ear alone, 1 my act of reverence. What cause, he said, bent thee down like this And I to him: Out of respect for your dignity my conscience justly stung me. 2 Straighten thy legs, and E nulla pena il monte ha piu amara. Si come 1 occhio nostro non s'aderse In alto, fisso alle cose terrene, Così giustizia...
