C. : White House Initiative on Educational Excellence for Hispanic Americans : U. S. Dept. of Education, 2000 OCLC Number: (OCoLC)45410040 Subject: Hispanic Americans -- Education -- United States -- Directories. Excerpt: . . . Description: Since 1992, schools throughout Texas have partnered with the Industrial Areas Foundation (IAF) organization to create a variety of enrichment opportunities for young people, including after-school and summer enrichment programs. Parents, teachers, and principals from Alliance Schools throughout Texas have worked with IAF leaders to design, secure funding for, and find leaders to deal with the day-to-day challenges of running after-school programs. Services: The Alliance Schools create after-school enrichment programs and summer programs. The Industrial Areas Foundation (IAF) addresses disparities in educational achievement and includes components of parental involvement to serve low-achieving schools. The key is for the programs to be flexible enough to accommodate the different schedule of students parents, teachers, and school staff. While each schools program is different, most programs offer some combination of the following: tutoring and computer classes; recreational games and organized sports; arts, crafts, music, and dance; and academic enrichment and alternative learning activities. Schools working with IAF organizations have implemented academic enrichment programs that challenge students to learn in different ways and connect what students learn in class to hands-on activities and projects after school. Evidence of Effectiveness: After evaluating programs in Austin, it was discovered that 96 percent of the parents and teachers involved would strongly recommend the program. Over 90 percent of the past participants would like to sign up again for the following year. Zavala Elementary is now a TEA Recognized school as well as a National Blue Ribbon School. After research....
